BRITISH LABOR LEADERS SET NEW POLICIES

LAWMAKERS CHEER FIRST ADDRESS BY BEVIN

BY W. W. HERCHER

London, Aug. 20 (P)—British foreign policy under the new labor government emerged clearly in the House of Commons today, where Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin drew cheers with a blunt statement that Great Britain will oppose any attempts to substitute "one form of totalitarianism for another" in liberated Europe.

He condemned the governments of Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary as undemocratic and instructed the Poles and Greeks to unite in their own lands for the task of reconstruction.

Bevin's first address as head of the British foreign office, worldwide in scope, was enthusiastically received by the lawmakers.

Eden Agrees

When he concluded his predecessor, Anthony Eden, declared Bevin's words had received the approval of the entire House. "We feel that what he said represented a foreign policy of which he was speaking for all parties," Eden asserted.

Thus Great Britain's postwar diplomacy, launched with a united front, embraced these salient positions:

1. Great Britain will not recognize the governments of Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary at the present time because they "do not in our view represent a majority of the people, and the impression we get from recent developments is that one kind of totalitarianism is being replaced by another."

2. The British desire "a stable and democratic" government in Greece.

3. Although the British government would take "a favorable view" if the Spanish people changed the Franco regime, it is "not prepared to take any step which would promote or encourage civil war in the country."

4. The question of making a peace treaty with Italy will come before the council of foreign ministers in London next month, with Britain desiring "the treaty should be made on fair terms and the people of Italy should be given the chance of reviving their life on the basis of liberty."

5. Great Britain would like to see all Poles overseas—military and civilian—return to their homeland and "assume the responsibilities in building a new Poland."

6. The new government feels confident that Hong Kong, the British colony on the China coast, will be returned to Britain "in agreement with our Chinese and American allies."

Soviets Won't Help In Greek Elections

Washington, Aug. 20 (P)—Hopes that the Big Four in Europe could unite to assure free elections in several liberated countries were jolted today with the disclosure that Russia had refused to assist in overseeing balloting in Greece.

The state department announced that the United States, Britain and France would send commissions to Athens to help insure a free election by secret ballot but said Russia found itself "unable to accept" an invitation to participate.

It was learned authoritatively that Russia declined to assist in Greece on grounds that the Soviet Union did not approve of "supervision" of national elections by foreign governments.

Navy Reduces Draft Quota, Prepares For Status Of Peacetime

Washington, Aug. 20. (P)—The navy, clearing its decks for demobilization and return to peacetime status, cut its September selective service requisitions by 9,000 today and said it hopes soon to start recruitment of volunteers.

Announcing the cut at a news conference, Vice-Admiral Randall Jacobs, chief of the bureau of personnel, said the new September total of 13,000 includes 10,000 for the navy instead of 17,000 originally requested and 3,000 for the Marine Corps instead of an original 5,000 figure. The Coast Guard, at peak strength now, had no September quota.

The army last week announced a monthly draft cut from 80,000 to 50,000.

Admiral Jacobs said the navy has asked President Truman to revoke a ban on recruitment of volunteers in the 18 to 28 age bracket for the navy.

The first of an estimated 327,000 personnel immediately eligible for discharge under the navy demobilization program announced last week already are en route home, Admiral Jacobs said.

The navy expects to release from 1,500,000 to 2,500,000 men within the next 12 to 18 months.

Combat and overseas credits such as are considered by the army and marines in their point discharge systems were disregarded by the navy, Admiral Jacobs explained, because of incomplete personnel records. He said records are not up to date because of security delays in reporting ships in action, transfer of personnel from

MICHIGAN LIFTS 35-MILE LIMIT

Removal Of Speed Curb Effective At Once On Trunklines

Lansing, Aug. 20 (P)—Michigan's 35-mile-an-hour wartime speed limit was formally lifted this afternoon by joint action of State Police Commissioner Oscar G. Olander and State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler.

The release is effective at once on trunkline highways and Aug. 27 on county roads, the latter delay being necessary to permit notification to county road commissions.

The action follows decision last weekend of the Office of Defense Transportation to lift the speed limit nationally.

The two officials urged motorists to continue to exercise careful driving, noting that most tires and autos now have passed their maximum point of safety. Under state law, motorists still are required to drive at prudent speeds and to observe municipal and special speed zones.

RELEASE RESTRICTIONS

Ottawa, Aug. 20 (P)—Rationing of small arms ammunition will be discontinued Aug. 31 and production controls were cancelled today on new farm machinery and office equipment, the prices board announced.

BOMBS DAMAGE BIG U. S. CARRIER

Navy Discloses Suicide Attack On Hancock By Jap Plane

Washington, Aug. 20 (P)—The Navy disclosed today that a Japanese bomb and plane hit the big carrier Hancock on April 7, causing 140 casualties.

The toll included 29 killed, 76 wounded and 36 missing.

The attack occurred on the day that a fast carrier task force found and sank the Japanese super-battleship Yamato when it left the shelter of homeland waters in an attempt to attack invasion forces at Okinawa.

At the time, the Hancock was cruising south of Kyushu, southernmost of the main Japanese home islands.

A single dive bomber known as a Judy came out of a cloud 5,000 yards over the ship, banked and dived straight for it. The Judy dropped its bomb from an altitude of 50 feet.

The bomb exploded on the flight deck, penetrated the forward section of the deck and damaged the hangar deck. Caught by the blast, the Judy cartwheeled and crashed on the flight deck. The twin blows destroyed 16 planes on the flight and hangar decks.

Fires started by the bomb and plane were quickly brought under control and within four hours the ship was ready to receive its carrier planes.

Traffic Increases 50 To 100 Per Cent On Michigan Roads

Lansing, Aug. 20 (P)—The state police tightened traffic controls today as reports from most parts of Michigan indicated highway travel increased 50 to 100 per cent over the weekend.

At the same time, the state highway department reported that the state ferries at the Straits of Mackinac transported 4,176 cars and 9,687 passengers Saturday and Sunday, compared with 2,804 cars and 6,948 passengers in the previous weekend, before gasoline rationing was lifted. A third state ferry was required to handle the rush. Many out of state cars were reported.

Capt. C. J. Scavarda, head of the state police traffic division, said the roads in many sections were spotted with cars suffering tire failures.

"The motorist now has all the gas he wants," Scavarda said, "but he still has the same old tires and car and is going to for a long time. A lot of drivers still don't realize they can't go back to pre-war driving yet."

Bob-Lo Excursion Offices Robbed Of $10,000 By 4 Men

Amherstburg, Ont., Aug. 20 (P)—John McAtee, employed in the office of the Bob-Lo Excursion Co., on Bob-Lo Island, reported to police today that four men robbed the offices of $10,000 after slugging a night watchman and forcing him to open three safes.

He said the four men came to the island and left in a rowboat. The money had been collected by the excursion company which operates the amusement park on lease from the Canadian government.

Charter Reported Ratified In Russia

London, Aug. 20 (P)—The Moscow radio said tonight that the presidium of the supreme Soviet has ratified the United Nations charter.

Russia thus became the third major power to ratify the San Francisco pact. The United States and France already had done so. Some smaller nations also have given formal approval.

CHINESE HAVE CIVIL WAR ON THEIR HANDS

COMMUNISTS CLASH WITH TROOPS OF GOVERNMENT

BY SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Aug. 20 (P)—Chinese Communist and government troops were credibly reported today to have clashed in North China while Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek appealed again to Communist leaders to come to Chungking to settle differences peacefully.

These developments in China's tension-packed political crisis came amid demands and counter-demands that civil war be averted. The Communists yesterday declared the threat of widespread hostilities was grave.

Chiang sent an urgent message to Communist Leader Gen. Mao Tse-tung in Yenan, urging him to reconsider his refusal to journey to Chungking to discuss a peaceful settlement.

Airfield Seized

The outbreak of fighting was reported to have occurred near Yangku (Taiyuan), capital of Shansi province. There was no indication whether it was a serious outbreak or one of a series of minor engagements that have taken place along Communist China's inflammable borders.

The reports said that hostilities broke out between Communist forces and troops under Gen. Yen Hsi-shan, Chungking-appointed governor of Shansi province. The Communists were said to have seized possession of an airfield near Yungku, only to be subsequently thrown off the airstrip.

Chungking announced that Chiang's widely-dispersed national armies had taken over more than 26 towns from the Japanese, that government underground forces had come out into the open in Shanghai and Peiping and that plans for the total capitulation of Japanese forces in all China were progressing.

Ready to Give Up

Gen. Ho Ying-chin, commander of China's field forces, left Chungking tonight for the American air base town of Chihkiang in western Hunan.

Okamura notified Chiang that his representatives, including his deputy chief of staff, Gen. Kiyoshi, two staff officers and an interpreter, would rendezvous with Allied fighters over Changteh at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

From isolated sectors of the Chinese front came word that Japanese troops at the former treaty port of Aoy in southeastern China had sent envoys into Chinese lines asking to surrender, and Ho Hsu-yan, Chinese governor of Shantung province, radioed that all Japanese forces in the province were ready to give up. He said Chinese forces were ready to move into Tsinan and Tsingtao, Shantung's two key cities.

The FCC reported that the Japanese government had complained to Gen. MacArthur that Chungking aid Yenan authorities were "rushing unwarrantedly and without any discipline" into Japanese-occupied areas of China with separate surrender demands. This, Tokyo said, was complicating Japanese efforts to maintain order in "the confused situation."

(The Japanese communication to MacArthur asked him to send officials to investigate the "actual situation in China" and said the request was being made "out of our sincere desire to carry out promptly your requirements.")

Return To School, Elliott Advises Jobless Students

Lansing, Aug. 20 (P)—"Come home—all is forgiven," Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, said today in effort to lure 100,000 Michigan students and 5,000 teachers who left the public schools during wartime.

Elliott asserted the students who had left for high paying war jobs were being "short-changed on their education." They will be the first to lose their jobs, Elliott predicted, and urged them to return to school this fall.

Many younger teachers left the classroom to take higher paying jobs, the superintendent declared, or to do work which "seemed closer to making a contribution to the war effort."

He pointed out that teaching salaries have risen generally since the war began and probably will continue to rise after other wages go down.

Elliott said the teaching vacancies generally have been filled by unqualified instructors holding emergency certificates and that the students have suffered because of that.

MacArthur Will Dictate Peace Terms In Tokyo

BY RUSSELL BRINES

Manila, Tuesday, Aug. 21 (P)—General MacArthur announced today that he would leave quickly for conquered Japan at the head of a mighty array of Army, Navy and Air Forces and would dictate surrender articles in the enemy homeland within ten days.

One of two Japanese planes carrying the Tokyo emissaries home from Ie Island rolled into a ditch this afternoon while proceeding toward the takeoff runway but none of its occupants was injured.

The second plane, bearing Lt. Gen. Takashiro Kawabe and eight other envoys, left without incident at 6:40 p. m. for Tokyo. The other Japanese remained overnight on Ie. They are expected to resume their trip Wednesday.

Japanese headquarters later reported to MacArthur by radio that the first plane had landed at Tokyo at 8:30 a. m. today (Japanese Time) after being delayed by engine trouble which "necessitated a forced landing at an unidentified point."

Ready For Emergency

American censorship had delayed announcement of their departure from Manila for several hours after their C-54 American transport left for Ie. There had been no further word until the dispatches disclosed the accident there.

The sky-filling American air fleets, the landing troops and the Allied naval armada scheduled to move speedily into Japan will be alerted for any emergency as they approach the shores of that seething country.

The Japanese notified MacArthur officially that they were keeping forces under arms at home "for the maintenance of order," and the Tokyo radio warned that many of the Japanese military might forcibly resist the occupation.

Little Friction Indicated

But the manner in which the emperor's emissaries offered cooperation at the non-concluded preliminary conferences here indicated Japan would be occupied with a minimum of friction.

A headquarters spokesman said that for the present a "technical state of truce" existed, and until the Allied entry into Japan no formal surrender would be signed. It was indicated the signing would take place in or near the ruined capital of Tokyo.

MacArthur did not deign to see the Japanese delegation, but shortly after it left he issued a statement saying that the emissaries "imparted all information required" and instructions of the United Nations are being conveyed by them to the government of Japan.

MacArthur expressed hope that

MORE CONTROLS LIFTED BY WPB

Controls Eliminated On Radios, Refrigerators And Trucks

Washington, Aug. 20. (P)—The War Production Board tonight scrapped 210 production controls in a sweeping move to speed reconversion of American industry.

In one stroke the agency wiped out restrictions which had prohibited or limited manufacture of hundreds of consumer products.

Only about 125 controls were left on the books, WPB said many of those would be revoked in the next few days.

Among controls eliminated were those on the number of radios, refrigerators and trucks that could be produced. Ceilings on automobile production will be lifted very shortly, WPB said.

Also scrapped were restrictions on manufacture of such products as stoves and laundry equipment, metal furniture, electric fans, motorcycles, storage batteries, photographic film, shipping containers, oil burning equipment, silk and cotton duck, machine tools, construction machinery and caskets.

J. A. Krug, WPB chairman, said removal of controls was designed "to facilitate the reconversion of industry and speed the flow of a wide variety of peacetime products into the hands of consumers, while still avoiding price inflation, preemption of scarce supplies, or a buyers' scramble."

Krug indicated that removal of production ceilings on automobiles was being held up temporarily while the question whether new cars will be delivered equipped with spare tires is being discussed.

Convention Planned By UAW Regardless Of Any ODT Verdict

Detroit, Aug. 20. (P)—The United Automobile Workers (UAW) international convention will be held next month at Grand Rapids "regardless of ODT's decision," R. J. Thomas, UAW-CIO president, declared today.

Thomas said permission to hold the convention had been asked of the Office of Defense Transportation at Washington, and ODT ruling prohibits conventions to which more than 150 persons must travel. Last year 2,400 union delegates met there.

ODT officials at Grand Rapids said they would be guided by Washington's decision.

QUISLING TOOK HITLER BRIBES COURT LEARNS

NAZI INVASION OF NORWAY PLANNED BY PUPPET

BY NED NORDNESS

Oslo, Aug. 20 (P)—A sensational charge that Maj. Vidkun Quisling planned the Nazi invasion of Norway and received gold from Hitler for betraying his country marked the opening today of the treason trial of the former puppet premier.

Quisling, visibly shaken by the accusation, rose from his seat and muttered weakly "that's not true."

Trying desperately to control himself, Quisling answered that he always considered Germany Norway's most dangerous threat.

"I am the saviour of Scandinavia," he said. "I am the martyr of Norway."

Gave Germans Advice

As the trial opened the prosecution disclosed that testimony is now being taken in Germany and will be introduced in court from Hermann Goering, Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, Joachim von Ribbentrop and other high ranking Nazis themselves awaiting war crimes trials.

Quisling is charged with military and civil treason, 16 specific murders and various other crimes. He is being tried before a high court with three judges and four laymen sitting in judgment.

State Prosecutor Anneaus Schjoedt read from a document he said was discovered in Germany and in which Hitler disclosed that steps taken resulting in Germany's successful occupation of Norway were based on warnings and advice from Quisling.

The document was one of two presented by the prosecutor. He said they were taken from German archives by American forces last April.

Collaboration Revealed

One was a letter allegedly written by Quisling to Hitler July 10, 1940, in which Quisling professed his hard labor for a greater Germanic Europe with Norway included, and expressed bitterness over his treatment at the hands of Josef Terboven, German commander of occupied Norway, by which his first government was deposed.

The second document was a full report of political preparations for the invasion of Norway which was delivered to Rosenberg, one of Hitler's high ranking administrators.

This document asserted that as early as the summer of 1939 Quisling approached and collaborated with Rosenberg, Reichsmarschal Goering and others in planning the invasion of his own country.

The courtroom audience was tense as Schjoedt said:

"Rosenberg's report disclosed that in the summer of 1939 Quisling requested an audience with Rosenberg, pointed out Norway's geopolitical significance in the Scandinavian sphere and all the advantages, which in the event of a conflict between Great Britain and the greater German reich would belong to the power which controlled the Norwegian coast."

Goering Distrustful

The prosecutor added that Quisling, asking for German assistance said he himself would undertake to organize a coup d'etat and arrest Norwegian legal authorities and invite the German army to enter Norway.

Internal Trouble Hinted

Only hint of trouble from this uarter was an official message to MacArthur from the Japanese in- icator that it was necessary to eep forces under arms on the ainland to preserve order and siking him to send officials to in- estigate "the actual situation in 'hina."

The 1,000,000-man Kwantung rmy in Manchuria was surren- ering garrison by garrison to the rushing Red army, which was earing the puppet capital of isinking.

Two hold-out Japanese generals n northern Luzon were offering o surrender their beaten forces. here was no word, however, on the southern island of Min- lano, where another big force is rapped.

Surrender negotiations moved ead in the Solomons, and inland orces on New Guinea asked the Australians for instructions on ow to proceed.

(A Domei broadcast heard by he FCC said the Japanese com- mander at Singapore also had eered to surrender.)

Waits For Higher-up

In his announcement, Mac- Arthur pointed out that responsi- ility for surrender of lands south f the Philippines—which em- brace Borneo, part of the Dutch ast Indies and numerous by- ased islands—"will be assumed y British and Australian com- mander."

The fact that MacArthur did e see the Tokyo group here howed clearly he has no inten- ion of meeting the Japanese until e can sit down and dictate his rders to someone of comparable ank.

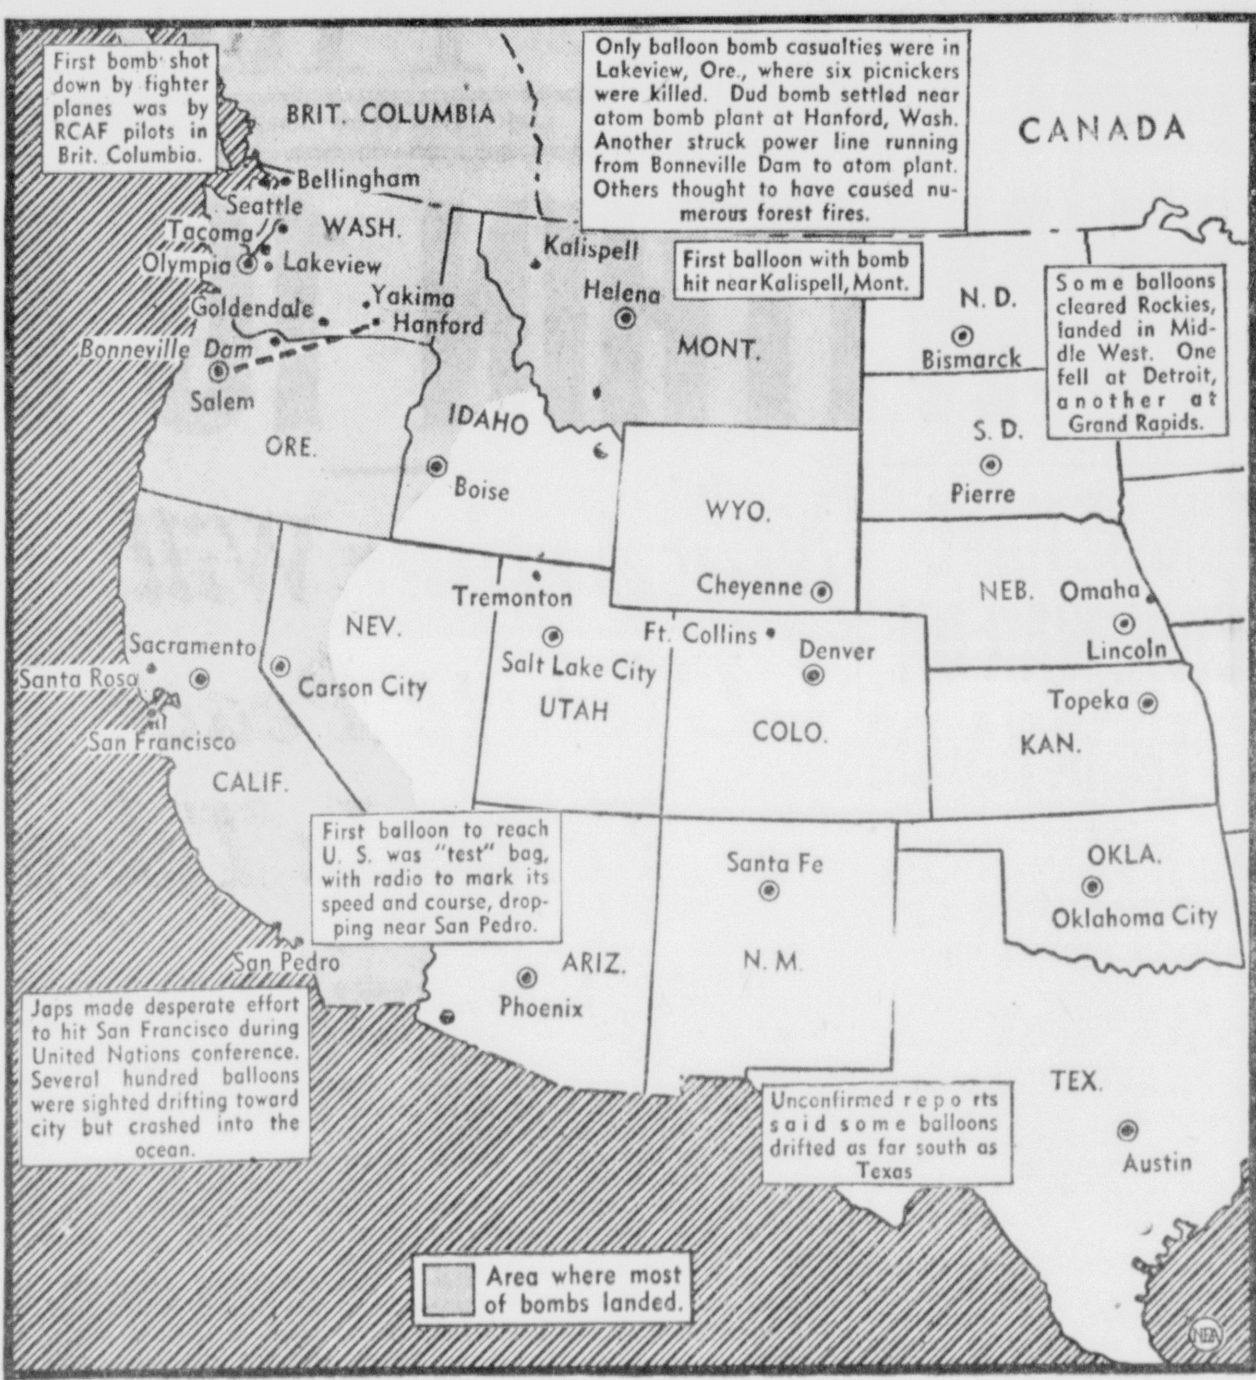

Lt. Gen. Richard E. Sutherland, is chief of staff, was in charge e preliminary meeting.

They were asked at length bow the conditions of air fields ound Tokyo. Undoubtedly this as to learn whether there were elds still in shape to handle evay American planes.

It was not disclosed whether MacArthur would go by ship or lane to Japan.

France Makes Cash Gift To Americans Of $17 A Month

Paris, Aug. 20 (AP)—Gen. Eisen- hower today expressed apprecia- tion of France's cooperation in "setting up a program designed to enhance the purchasing power of members of the armed forces of the United States while located in France."

Eisenhower's statement was made in connection with an an- nouncement that France will give to each American soldier stationed in France or on leave in the coun- try $17 monthly to increase his purchasing power.

Army officials declined to esti- mate the cost to France because of the constant shifting of troops, but if the 600,000 American sol- diers estimated to be in the coun- try at present are still there at the end of the month France will pay out $10,200,000 at that time.

voys to Rangoon by Aug. 23.

A broadcast by the New Delhi radio, heard in London, directed Terauchi to send emissaries "with plenipotentiary powers" to ar- range with representatives of the Allied commander in chief in southeast Asia, for "the orderly surrender of all Japanese sea, air, land and auxiliary forces under your command."

The broadcast order did not specifically define the command area under Terauchi, but indicated that it included Indo-China, Thailand and the Malay States, as well as what is left of Japanese holdings in Burma.

The order said the information to be furnished by the Japanese envoys should include the location of all radio stations.

The order said, "These repre- sentatives are to travel in no more than two unarmed aircraft to be provided by you. These aircraft are to be painted all white and to bear upon the side of the fuselage and on the top and bottom of each wing green crosses easily recog- nizable at 500 yards."

In February 1944, the Census Bureau estimated that there were 2,700,000 married women whose husbands were absent in the armed forces.

CAMP AT RACO TO BE CLOSED

German War Prisoners Housed There For Woods Work

Camp Raco, a branch German prisoners of war camp west of Sault Ste Marie in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, will be closed effective Friday, Aug. 24, it is announced by Brig. Gen. John T. Pierce, commanding general of Fort Sheridan.

The prisoners at Camp Raco have been cutting chemical wood for the Newberry Lumber and Chemical company of Newberry, but the company now has a large stock pile and the work of the prisoners of war is no longer necessary, according to Lt. Col. E. R. Schulke, commander of the base prisoner of war camp at Ft. Sheridan.

Since Camp Raco was opened on Jan. 27 of this year, the pris- oners of war have cut 17,819 cords of chemical wood. For this work, the Newberry Lumber and Chemi- cal company has paid $64,638 into the United States treasury.

Truman To Address Country On V-J Day

Washington, Aug. 20 (AP)—Presi- dent Truman plans to make a brief radio address to the nation on V-J day.

The definite plan for the speech, which the White House already had indicated as probable, was announced today by Charles G. Ross, presidential press secretary.

He said it will come on the day of Japan's formal signing of sur- render terms, which General Douglas MacArthur was indicated probably will be in about 10 days. But V-J day will not be a legal holiday, Ross said.

In February 1944, the Census Bureau estimated that there were 2,700,000 married women whose husbands were absent in the armed forces.

Windsor Jittery With 3 Murders; Maniac On Loose

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 20. (AP)—Po- lice detained 30 persons today for questioning in connection with three murders that left Windsor residents jittery and led authori- ties to say they feared more killings by a "fiendish maniac on the loose."

One of the 30, investigators said, was a "real suspect" in the knife slayings of Sgt. Hugh B. Price, 45, an overseas veteran, and Frank Sciegalski, 56, a mechanic, who were found dead in the same vac- ant lot here, Price on Aug. 18 and Sciegalski on Aug. 8.

The police said they were fol- lowing different leads in the ham- mer killing of William Davies, 67, a garage night watchman, early last Thursday.

The major suspect in the Price and Sciegalski slayings, detectives reported, was told during ques- tioning that something resembling blood had been found on his knife.

"I don't see how that's possible because I washed it off," he was quoted as replying.

Further details of the question- ing were not released.

Cause Of Boxing Plant Fire Found; Deaths Total 14

Detroit, Aug. 20 (AP)—The fire in the plant of the Export Box & Sealer company that caused 14 deaths last Monday, was "due, the fire marshal's office reported to- day, to the substitution of an in- flammable fluid for a non-inflam- mable liquor ordinarily used in a degreasing tank.

The report, compiled by Detec- tive Inspector George W. Smith of the police arson squad, was turned over to the board of fire commis- sioners and to Mayor Edward Jef- fries by Fire Marshal Edward W. Hall.

It asserted that instead of non- inflammable tri-chlor-ethylene, a quality of methyl alcohol had been used, adding that there was no tri-chlor-ethylene on hand.

Cotton-fabric letterheads have found favor with many business firms.

JENKINS TALKS TO LIONS CLUB

Army Officer Reveals Interesting Data On War

Lt. Col. Loren Jenkins, com- manding officer of the 254th com- bat engineers, composed of Na- tional Guards who entered the service from Escanaba in October, 1940, revealed interesting facts of the battalion's combat service in Europe in an address before the Escanaba Lions club last night at the Sherman hotel.

Col. Jenkins detailed the bat- talion's service in Ireland, England, France, Belgium, Germany and Czechoslovakia leading up to and including the final surrender of the German army.

The Escanaba army officer de- scribed details of the preparations in England for the invasion of France, the problems involved and how they were met, the invasion of the Normandy coast, the battle of the Belgium bulge, the smash- ing of the Siegfried line, the cross- ing of the Rhine and the lightning march across Germany to the Elbe river.

Col. Jenkins revealed that the collapse of the Remagen bridge was in no way detrimental to the Allies march across the Rhine since sufficient auxiliary bridges had already been constructed to safeguard the bridgehead.

In his address, Col. Jenkins de- tailed the Von Runstedt counter- offensive in Belgium and revealed how the smashing assault finally was blunted and wiped out. He disclosed that the German armor- ed units finally were forced to stop when gasoline ran out while the Allies blocked off communications in the rear.

The armored units of the Allies who raced pell mell across France after the breakthrough at St. Lo could easily have gone straight through to Berlin if gasoline sup- plies could have been maintained, Col. Jenkins revealed.

Over 150,000 Lose Jobs In Detroit; May Reach 300,000

Detroit, Aug. 20 (AP)—The num- ber of factory workers thrown out of employment as a result of war contract termination was esti- mated in authoritative circles to- day to have reached 150,000 with many more facing lay-offs before the week's end.

Throughout today long lines of unemployed persons stood in the vicinity of the United States Em- ployment Service offices. They sought new jobs or referrals to the State Unemployment Compensation Commission. Officials of the employment service said job op- portunities within the next few weeks were anything but bright.

Officials of the major automo- tive companies whose war time contracts were cancelled following announcement of the Japanese surrender, said accurate figures on the number of workers laid off will not be available for several days. All agreed that the estimate of R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) that up to 300,000 persons may be thrown out of work, was not ex- orbitant.

Double Shutout Is Won By Nationals

Cleveland, Aug. 20 (AP)—Alex Carrasquel scattered seven hits to blank the Cleveland Indians 6 to 0 in the second half of a two-night doubleheader tonight, giving the Washington Nationals a double shutout victory after Marino Pie- retti held the Tribe scoreless to take the opener 7 to 0.

The Nationals kept pace with the league-leading Detroit Tigers as they scored four runs on five hits in the fourth inning of the finale to clinch the decision. George Binks contributed a triple and Al Evans made a double in the game-winning outbust which drove Gromek from the mound.

Pete Center was charged with his first loss against six wins in the first game as the Nats tallied four markers on a grand slam homer by Binks after the bases were loaded on two walks and an error by Ed Wheeler.

Cardinals Blank Boston Braves, 2-0

Boston, Aug. 20 (AP)—Rookie Ken Burkhardt gained his 14th victory and his first one in five starts against the Boston Braves today by hurling a seven-hitter that gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 2-0 shutout.

Art Rebel opened the game by doubling against Ed Wright and came around with the first St. Louis run after Al Schoendienst singled and Buster Adams filed to left. In the fifth, Rebel knocked in the Cards' final run after Emil Verban and Burkhardt singled.

Wright was yanked for a pinch- hitter in the eighth, after giving the Cardinals all of their eight hits. He was relieved by Elmer Singleton, who arrived here from Kansas City this morning.

Quisling wanted to organize a group of Norwegian Nazis, have them trained in secret German camps and later have them smug- gled back to Norway in coal ships. The prosecutor said Rosenberg's report indicated that Goering op- posed this part of the plan be- cause Goering did not trust Quis- ling.

However, Goering used the in- formation Quisling gave him dur- ing frequent trips to Berlin and the general plan was used in the invasion, Schjoedt added.

Briefly Told

Mr. and Mrs. Gunnar Beck, son Jimmie and Harold Carlson Jr., have returned from a three day visit which took them to parts of Canada.

ROYCE TO RETIRE

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 20 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Ralph Royce, 53, com- manding general of the AAF per- sonnel distribution command here, is expected to retire soon, the Courier-Journal said in a story published tonight. Gen. Royce was formerly stationed at Selfridge field army air base, near Detroit.

Recent research shows that it is quicker to cook vegetables with a cover on the kettle. Quick cook- ing preserves the color and food value of the vegetables.

Rep. Bradley Suggests Legion Urge Airport As Memorial

Cleveland Post No. 82 of the American Legion last night in- stalled officers for the ensuing year, and heard Rep. Fred Bradley outline veterans legislation and suggest that the Legion urge con- struction of a proposed new air- port as a Delta county memorial to its dead in World War II.

William J. Perron was in- stalled commander of the Legion post, succeeding C. Elmer Olson. Other officers installed last night were:

Vice Commanders Roy Baldwin, Clifford T. Weir, William Call; Finance Officer E. L. Moersch; Adjutant Ralph R. Olsen; Chap- lain Archie Wood; Sergeant at Arms Oscar Seguin; Vice Com- mander (Bark River) Fred De- rocher; Vice Commander (Garden) Nelson Thibault; Welfare Officer Gerald J. Cleary; Publicity Officer Emerson B. Harvey; Historian Grover Gosnell; and John Pelton, member of real estate association.

In his talk on veterans legisla- tion, Rep. Bradley stressed that Legionnaires advise families of wounded servicemen now receiv- ing hospitalization not to insist on the medical discharge of the man. He declared that to hasten the serviceman into signing a waiver which would permit him to end his service connection quickly he might be the means of doing him an injustice.

"In our veterans hospitals they are doing everything they can to remedy the wounds and disabili- ties suffered by our boys," Rep. Bradley said. "Don't insist on having Johnny come marching home too soon."

Bradley's suggestion that the Legion "get behind" the proposed airport project was made, he said, because he believes that it can become "the most fitting memorial for the boys from Delta county who gave their lives for their country." He suggested the Leg- ion appoint a special committee to cooperate with the committee now making plans for the air- port, and added that as a mem- orial there could be airport buildings named for the service- men who made the supreme sac- rifice.

Accompanying Bradley to Escanaba was Alvin Christoferson of Alpena, a former sergeant in the army air force, who was wounded in the European theater of war where he was a member of a bomber crew. Bradley announced that Christoferson would go to Washington with him, and there would aid him in taking care of requests for veterans assistance.

Tracy Southworth, of Lansing, member of the Michigan board of aeronautics, also was present at the meeting and spoke briefly, praising Bradley's suggestion for a county memorial airport.

Feller Gill Get Release This Week

Chicago, August 20 (AP)—Bob Feller, pitching ace for the Cleve- land Indians, will be released from the navy no later than Wednesday, officials at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center said tonight. Fel- ler, who served 27 months at sea as a gun fire control director on the U. S. S. Alabama, was trans- ferred to a demobilization center today. The 26-year-old right- hander plans to go direct to Cleve- land to settle terms and a new contract with officials of the Cleveland club.

The Cost of Defeat

JAPANESE emissaries have now learned from General MacArthur the terms of surrender and the cost of their defeat. Arrangements have been made for a formal surrender, which apparently will be made in Tokyo.

Incidents that have developed since the panese government issued a cease-fire to the Nipponese troops show that the job of occupation of the home islands of Japan will not be an easy one. For many long years the Japanese have been the vicious propaganda that they were invincible and could never be defeated. The propaganda line naturally made them tough foe in war. Now they must learn at they have been defeated and that the myth of invincibility was all a myth. Failure to recognize this lesson will prove immensely costly to the Japanese people the months to come.

The occupation problem in Japan will be vastly different from that in Germany, or one thing, Germany has felt the pangs of defeat on several occasions in history, still 1945, Japan had never been conquered in war.

Germany was overrun by enemy troops before the final surrender. Japan was forced to give up even before a hostile force landed on her shores. The cataclysmic defeat descended on the rank and file of panese subjects virtually without forewarning. Right up to the very day of pitulation, millions of misguided Japanese actually believed that they were winning the war because their only source of knowledge was the viciously false government-controlled information agencies.

The American people, who have carried the brunt of the attack that ultimately knocked the props out from under the panese militarists, will not be tolerant with Japanese who refuse to learn that the war is over. Continued attacks against the occupation forces most certainly will be met with stern countermeasures. Unobedient General MacArthur impressed Japanese emissaries at Manila with this.

Retribution for the atrocities committed by the Japanese against American and other Allied soldiers and civilians in the war is another point that Gen. MacArthur overed in unmistakable language in his interviews with the Japanese emissaries. Japan has been defeated just as soundly as if Allied troops had landed on the me islands and had knocked out the panese home army. The Japanese had better learn this lesson soon.

A Memorial Airport

THE Press has received the suggestion that the proposed Delta county airport be established on the Escanaba or dock road area as a memorial to the men and women who have served their country in World War II.

The idea is a good one, for the airport could fit in well with the local and nationwide program to establish living memorials to the heroes of this war. Delta county needs adequate facilities to keep pace with the coming boom in aviation.

Many members of the nation's air forces will be flying in the future either with commercial airlines or in their own planes. Development of aviation will come by leaps and bounds. About a half dozen airline companies have already shown their interest in projecting air mail, passenger and express routes to the Upper Peninsula, but only those communities that provide satisfactory facilities will be designated as stops.

With the war's end, emphasis is again being placed on the promotion of tourist business in the Upper Peninsula. In the future, many vacationists will come by plane, but they will come only to those places that have good accommodations. Good airports will be as important as good hotels to the air tourist.

Statehood for Alaska

RECENT suggestions that Alaska and Hawaii be elevated to statehood should end to revive interest in a subject which has been proposed and discussed at various times in the past.

Perhaps it is premature to predict that their admission to the Union of states has been brought nearer because of the proposals. But no particular foresight is involved in the prediction that, sooner or later, both of these great territories eventually will become states.

Both possess many of the qualities of statehood now. Hawaii is larger in area and population (land area 6441 square miles; 1940 population, 426,634) than a number of states. Alaska's area of 586,400 square miles is more than double that of any state, but its population of 72,524 is extremely sparse. However, there is no questioning the fact that Alaska could support a much larger population—probably a population of several million. Nor does does anyone question the certainty of a much larger population for Hawaii.

True, there may be considerations—one of them being national defense—which make it advisable to defer statehood for an indefinite period for one or both of the territories. But, if advisable, that period will come to an end some day and, as surely as tomorrow's dawn, Alaska and Hawaii will be added to Uncle Sam's family of states.

It's Being Unraveled

ANNOUNCEMENT that the Office of Defense Transportation will close its highway transport department offices in Escanaba, Green Bay and other parts of the country is in line with the Truman administration's economy policy.

Alphabetical agencies, created during the wartime emergency, are to be discontinued now that the need for them no longer exists. War's end also will bring a welcome unraveling of much bureaucratic red tape that has been the bane of big and small business alike.

The Office of Price Administration is being kept intact for the wartime problems of price control still remain to haunt us. There is no telling how high the cost of living would rise if we allowed the forces of inflation to have free rein such as was the case after the first World War.

Nevertheless, the American taxpayer is cheered by the evidence that New Deal-created bureaus and agencies are to be discontinued when they have outlived their usefulness. At one time, there was ample reason to fear that the bureaucratic mushroom would never become any smaller. But, Congress still should be able to find quite a few more places to use the economy axe after it returns to work.

Wainwright Safe

MOST heart warming news over the week end was the report that Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, the hero of Corregidor, and other prisoners of war were found safe and well in Japanese camps in Manchuria and northern China.

General Wainwright was left on Corregidor with his small force as expendables to slow the victory march of the Japs as long as possible. When the American defenders had run out of planes and ammunition, they surrendered, but only when it was realized that further resistance was useless. Unlike the Japanese officers, General Wainwright did not believe in senseless, suicidal defense of a position that was no longer defensible.

General Wainwright and his brave soldiers of Corregidor endured privation in Japanese prison camps, although fortunately they were fairly well treated, according to the reports made by the medical rescue troops who parachuted down to give the prisoners whatever attention they needed. The hero of Corregidor is coming home, but quite likely he will be returning to duty without much delay. He will be able to give much aid to his chief, General MacArthur, in the administration of affairs in occupied Japan.

DON'T BLAME THE JOURNAL (Sturgis Journal)

More than 1500 rural readers of the Daily Journal have been deprived of their papers for two days at a time when the biggest news in history was being printed. No mail has been distributed to rural patrons from Tuesday morning until Friday. In cities only people who had lock boxes were able to get mail in that period.

Rural subscribers, many of whom live within a few miles of Sturgis, are today receiving Journals that were printed Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and the war extra that was printed Tuesday night. The farmer who doesn't have a radio won't know that the war is over until he gets his papers today.

The Journal went to considerable effort and expense to print and mail its war extra to all rural subscribers in the Sturgis area. There are about 1500 of them. Grover Rippey, the assistant post master, was called and made a special trip to the post-office to take the bundles in Tuesday night so they would go out Wednesday morning. THEY DIDN'T GO OUT.

The responsibility for this "public be damned" policy does not rest with the local officials or the mail carriers. They merely followed orders. The orders came from Washington cutting off all mail service for two days.

During those two days there was no interruption of telephone service, electric power, gas and other essential services. The milk man made his route as usual and the local bank was open for business. The Daily Journal got out its regular editions. If you didn't get your Journals Wednesday and Thursday don't blame the Journal. We did our part, and if you want to prevent such flagrant indifference to the public interest in the future write a letter to the Postmaster General in Washington and tell him what you think about it.

YES, AUTOS! (Detroit Free Press)

Now we are told that with "a flood of steel" for consumers' goods the auto manufacturers will be able to turn out a half million cars this year. This from a government spokesman. Tomorrow another government spokesman will no doubt look at his charts, scratch his head, sip his tea, and announce that there will be a million cars produced. And by Thursday still another will say that none will come off the assembly lines.

Knowing the Detroit automotive group and their capacity for action, this newspaper has a suspicion that the Detroit leaders are not waiting for word from "Government spokesmen."

The war is over for them. They are not unlike that sick Irishman who was induced to have a reconciliation with a life-long enemy. And as the visitor got up to leave, the Irishman said, "And if I get better, this bunk doesn't go."

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—In all the talk about the architects of the final victory, one man, who happens to have no flare for self-advertisement, should certainly not be overlooked. That is Admiral Ernest J. King, Commander-in-Chief of the United States fleet and chief of naval operations.

Childs

Inevitably, with his appointment as commander of the occupation forces for Japan, General Douglas MacArthur will find the focus of publicity shining on his handsome head. Through years of experience, MacArthur knows very well how to stand up to that kind of radiance.

Inevitably, too, by concentrating on MacArthur personally and the contribution of his armies, this will obscure what the navy has done. That is already a sore spot. Navy men in the Pacific have felt their achievements were constantly overshadowed by the acclaim that has grown, in part at least, out of MacArthur's vast political prestige and his almost legendary reputation.

—FOUGHT HARD FOR NAVY—

What is likely to rank as King's supreme achievement is but little known to the public. Under him, the navy has been built to unprecedented strength. The battles it has fought, right up to the doorstep of Tokyo, will live in American history for a very long time.

But it was the private battle which King fought—in Washington, in Quebec, in Tehran—that will rank him high in any impartial history of the war. He fought constantly day in and day out, at big conferences and little conferences, to get a fair share of American production for the Pacific war.

After Pearl Harbor, the argument that seemed compelling in high places went as follows: We must concentrate everything, or almost everything, on defeating the Nazis and liberating Europe. The Pacific can wait until later. When we have finished the job in Europe, then we can turn to the Far East and mop up the Japanese.

Against this thesis, the Admiral made himself a battering ram. He argued that we could not afford to let the Japs dig in to their stolen possessions. They had oil, rubber, minerals, quinine—everything they needed. If we gave them time enough, they would make themselves unbeatable in East Asia.

It was just this, he argued, that the Japs were counting on. They contemplated that we would have a long and costly struggle in Europe. Then, when we turned eastward, we would find them entrenched on every shore, with docile populations organized by coercion and propaganda.

—COUNTED ON STATEMA—

Would the American people go on to fight another long and costly war that might take years and then, conceivably, end in stalemate? The shrewd Japs guessed so.

Gradually, King began to win minor skirmishes in his private war. What had been a trickle of supply to the Pacific became a fairly sizeable stream.

As he won converts to his view that the Pacific war must not be starved, production sights were set higher. The effect was to boost the output of everything, so there would be enough for two fronts. And while the biggest share went to Europe to mount the invasion, our strength in Asia grew toward its present astonishing level.

In fighting this private war, King naturally made enemies. Our Allies tended to regard him as a fire-eating dragon, a sort of terrible-tempered Mr. Bang who, at the slightest provocation, exploded on the subject of the step-child treatment accorded the Pacific conflict. They must see now—some of them have had the generosity to say so—that King was right.

From the battle of Midway on down to the dropping of the first atomic bomb, the navy had broken the grasp the Japs had on their new empire. Jap shipping was destroyed. The Jap fleet was decimated. To many, King has appeared difficult and dictatorial. A British admiral early in the war gave me an engaging picture of lunch with the "Cominch."

"Half dozen of your chaps there, you know. All sat with their hands folded on the table like schoolboys. Never spoke a word 'til old Ernie gave 'em the signal."

But let's not forget that a less tough-minded man might not have won that private war. And, as we now see, it was important to win that war.

as a noun apparently is rather common among teachers and students alike. But admit is a verb only, and the word should be accented on the second syllable, thus: ad-MIT. Do not confuse admit with the noun permit. Better say: This permit (PER-mit) will admit (ad-MIT) you to prize cows.

Overheard on a broadcast from Washington: "... and it should be done under guv-munt supervision." There is no explanation for the widespread corruption of the important word gov-ern-ment. To pronounce it correctly, simply say govern and follow with -ment: GUV-ern-ment.

The Mexican city across the Rio Grande from El Paso is not "wah-REZZ." Juarez was named for Benito Pablo Juarez, President of Mexico from 1858 to 1863, and from 1867 to 1872. The name is accented on the first syllable. The second syllable is pronounced like the English word "race," for in Spanish "z" is sounded like "s." Say: HWAH-rayss.

The word percale was borrowed from the French. In that language it is pronounced: pair-KAL. But the word has long been Anglicized, and the second syllable, -cale, should follow the pattern of such words as rhyme, bale, pale, pale. Say: per-KAIL, to rhyme with "her nail."

Prize fluttermouth of the week, heard on a newscast by O. H. T., of Lansing: "The San Francisco charter will succeed only if we Americans are sincere in wishing to prevent weer." Give up! He meant to say, "... wishing to prevent war."

THE MILK SOURCE—All too often in this machine age we are inclined to look upon food in the processed stage rather than at its source. Particularly is this true of dairy products.

Dunathan

The cow is forgotten as the source of the bottle of milk, package of cheese or pound of butter.

Back of the cheese, the butter, the milk and cream stand Bossy, a queen in her own right. And on many Delta county farms she is treated like a queen.

Destined from birth as a producer of health-giving milk, she is carefully attended, scientifically fed, and her progress as a milk-producer meticulously tested.

The testing program of the Dairy Herd Improvement association is particularly important to the success of the dairy program. Yet because the county has the service of but one tester, Harry Nelson, the number of members in the association is necessarily limited. There are now no other testers available, and Nelson is kept busy with his work among the herds of the 17 members of the association. Later another tester may be employed and the membership can be enlarged.

In years to come the high quality of milk will become an important factor in profit or loss in the dairy business. Right now (as it has been for many years) dairymen can, through the testing program, know the production record of the individual cow and the herd as a whole. The testing record is the yardstick for measuring success or failure in the dairy business.

NAMING THE QUEEN — On most farms queen cow is given a pet name and, if she has an amiable temperament almost becomes a member of the family. The names selected for cows are usually short and sweet. Some of them are given in the annual testing report for the Dairy Herd Improvement association in the county.

Clifford Olson of Bark River has a cow "Lucy", among the highest producers in her class. Clarence Sundquist has another named "Beauty"; Clayton Ford of Cornell also selected "Beauty" as a name for his best cow; Neil Johnson of Escanaba Rt. 1 chose "Sally" as a handle for one of his prize cows.

Fulgencz Falkies of Cornell, undoubtedly influenced by the color of the nigger, calls one of his best cows "Brownie." Frank Barron has a "Brownie," and Neil Johnson of Escanaba Rt. 1 selected "Fern" for his prize cow.

Henry Van Enkevort of Bark River and Jules Van Damme of St. Nicholas chose to disregard the pretty names, apparently. Or perhaps they have too many cows to find names for all of them. Anyway, they just give them numbers.

SLIP—While ticking along with a wood tick item the other day, the Bugler slipped on his geography and gave Menominee county a whole slice of Delta county. Writing of the woman from Boney Falls who had a wood tick removed from her leg by an Escanaba physician, the Bugler described Boney Falls as on the Menominee river in Menominee county.

Having been to Boney Falls on the Escanaba river in Delta county several times, there is no excuse for the error—except too much haste, too little thought and a considerable amount of mid-summer lethargy.

MISINFORMATION — From Werner Palmquist, formerly of Delta county and now with the U. S. Navy in Seattle, Wash., comes a letter and clipping. The clipping is from the Seattle Post-Intelligencer's "The Voice of the People" and reports a peeve by one Ed Swartout of La Conner.

Who Mr. Swartout is does not matter too much, but what he wrote of Michigan made Palmquist's blood boil. For Swartout wrote: "1.—That a charge is made 'every motorist' who enters a Michigan state park; and 2.—Michigan people want money to direct you 'if you happen to get off your road.'"

Writes Palmquist: "Some people who have never been to Michigan may believe such foolishness."

For the sake of the record—although Mr. Swartout may never read it—there is no charge being made for entrance to any Michigan state park, according to John Angulin, district supervisor of the conservation department. Such a fee has been contemplated for the past couple years by the state, but no action has yet been taken. If it is applied it will be only on certain parks offering special services or accommodations to the public.

On the second count, that Michigan residents are so discourteous as to make a charge for directing lost motorists—that's pure bunk. Michigan is one state in the union where tourist information centers are maintained, either by local communities or the state, to a greater degree than in any other state in the nation. Citizens are equally thoughtful of the traveler.

MANY REASONS — Motorists who failed to comply with the federal use tax stamp law, purchase, lick and stick the stamp on their windshield, had faces as red as the U. S. Internal Revenue "notice to appear" tickets they found on their cars the other day.

The federal use tax on cars is a nuisance tax. While no figures are available, the Bugler would bet an old gas ration book that it

G. I. SERVICE

Q My husband was killed in France and I have one child. We receive the Government insurance payments and the pension of $63 per month. If I go to work will the pension be discontinued?

A Your pension will not be discontinued because of the fact that you work. A widow is entitled to payment until such time as she may remarry; the child is entitled to payment until 18 years of age.

Q I am a widower with two sons who send me a family allowance. I expect soon to become employed, but my wages will be only 55 cents an hour. Should I report this to the authorities from whom I get my family allowance checks?

A Yes, it should be reported. Family Allowance is paid to parent of a serviceman only when the fact of dependency exists. That office will determine whether or not you are still entitled to receive payment from both sons.

OF GENERAL INTEREST

Q Does President Truman have weekly press conferences?

A No, they are limited to such occasions when he has announcements to make.

Q Can you tell me something about the Ainus of Sakhalin Island?

A They are taller than the Japanese, have dark brown eyes and regular features, but their feet are extraordinarily narrow. Unique among all human races, the entire body in both sexes is covered with a growth of rather long hairs, with the growth heaviest on the head, face and breast. Their eyelids are not oblique, but horizontal, and open widely. They worship the sky, earth, fire, wind, and water. The bear is especially worshipped by them. Only the men are permitted to worship. They usually eat from a community bowl, a whole group eating with their hands from it.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Q After dining at a friend's house I carefully folded my napkin and laid it beside my plate. My husband said that was a breach of etiquette and that a guest should not fold his napkin. Is he correct?

A A guest for one meal only should not fold his napkin, but lay it beside his plate as it was used. That also is the correct procedure at a hotel. But when one is a house guest for several days he should fold his napkin after each meal, as one can hardly expect to have a clean napkin for every meal in a private home.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

ED. NOTE—In Drew Pearson's absence, Fred M. Vinson, Secretary of the Treasury, contributes a guest column on one of the most important problems of the treasury—Tax Evasion.)

BY FRED M. VINSON
Secretary of the Treasury

Washington—Drew Pearson has offered me his Washington Merry-Go-Round column to present any subject of interest to the treasury department and to the American people. I know of no subject of more immediate concern than the treasury's campaign against tax evasion.

Here, in a nutshell, is the situation the treasury faces:

In 1940 there were 4,999,999 individual taxpayers. Today there are more than 50,000,000. In an effort to handle the vastly increased task of processing returns and collecting taxes the personnel of the bureau of internal revenue was increased from about 22,000 to about 50,000.

With the manpower shortage the bureau could not expect to increase its forces proportionately with the number of taxpayers. And in many respects bureau employees found their work increased out of proportion to the number of returns. Under the withholding program, a large part of the work formerly done by the taxpayer is now done in the bureau. The processing of wartime tax relief provisions also threw much additional work upon the bureau. Under these conditions the normal investigative work of the bureau inevitably suffered.

The bureau has always proceeded upon the theory that the average American is honest, and that a small but efficient force could deal with the dishonest.

But millions of us are now taxpayers and the honest must be protected against those among us who, tempted by war-swollen incomes and shortage in civilian goods and services, would cheat the rest of us. No city, however small, can afford to be without a police force. And no city, which has experienced a population increase of more than ten-fold in a five-year period, would think of trying to get along without enlarging its law enforcement groups.

That is why the treasury is building up its investigative forces. Our objective is to recruit and train 5,000 men.

-PROTECTING HONEST TAX-PAYERS-

This will be no gestapo. It will be a taxpayers' law enforcement group protecting the government's interest in taxes, and at the same time protecting the honest taxpayer against the black market operator, the racketeer and every other kind of tax evader. And it will be good business, too. We expect to collect $20 for every one spent.

When taxes are evaded the honest taxpayer loses, since every dollar evaded increases by that much the burden borne by other taxpayers. In many cases, the honest taxpayer has special reason to welcome the tax-evasion campaign. A reputable furrier or jeweler, for instance, could not continue in business of a next-door competitor should be permitted to sell furs or jewelry without collecting excise taxes. Any business firm which cheats the government by failing to pay for the services which government provides is engaged in dishonest competition, just as much as if it cheated the landlord out of his rent or workers out of their pay. Taxes are high, but they must be collected fairly. And so long as any substantial portion of the taxes due remains uncollected, it operates to defer the reduction of tax rates.

Much more than expedience directs this tax-evasion campaign. Fundamental morality is involved. The man who evades taxes picks his neighbor's pocket. And in these times, when we are asking so much from the men in uniform, any pocket picking at their expense becomes unthinkable. As President Truman has said:

"We are not fighting this war to make millionaires, and certainly we are not going to allow the black-market operators or any other racketeers to be in a favored class, when the men in the armed forces, and our citizens generally, are sacrificing so heavily."

My readers may say, "all right. Tax evasion is indefensible. How bad is it? What are you doing about it?"

—BLACK MARKET OPERATORS—

Take, for example, the black market operator. He uses currency in an effort to avoid making a record of his violations of the price control act, and because he thinks his profits cannot be traced he does not report them on his income-tax return or understates them. The treasury and the OPA have an equal interest in proceeding against this gentry, and from now on we will proceed more effectively than ever before.

Only a novice boxer telegraphs his blows. We are not going to tell the black market operators and other tax evaders, in advance, what we are going to do or how or when or where we are going to do it. But a moment's reflection should convince anyone who has engaged in tax evasion that there is no future in it. What can a man do with illegal profits? He can buy land or jewels, but he cannot avoid leaving one or many traces that can be discovered and followed up whenever the treasury and other agencies have enough men to do the job.

We in the treasury are getting the men and training them. We will have invaluable help from other departments of government in meeting our problems and we, in turn, will help them in meeting theirs. And we are constantly expanding the sources from which we will obtain information that will trap the tax evader. He may think he can escape by shoving his concealed profits in a safe-deposit box or by burying them in the ground. But whenever such currency reappears, it begins to leave a telltale trail.

KIWANIS HONORS LOCAL LEADERS

Home Front Groups Are Recognized At Meeting

Members of the Escanaba Kiwanis club, at their regular meeting on the Sherman hotel Monday noon, paid tribute to civic leaders who have directed the Red Cross, United War Fund, War Savings committee and other home front activities during the past four years of war.

C. Emery Snyder, program chairman of the day, before introducing the three speakers, declared: "The war has taught us new things—that a loosely knit democracy, when righteously incensed, can put up a better fight than any dictator nation, where one man's word is law."

Reviews Red Cross Work

L. J. Jacobs, chairman of the Delta county chapter of the American Red Cross, began his talk by delivering a brief eulogy to the late L. O. Heintz, who directed Red Cross activities during the early war years in this county. Declaring that the Red Cross is the only contact between the service men and their loved ones, Mr. Jacobs said the organization has rendered valuable aid in filing claims for veterans, arranging for burials and transportation in times of death in the family, and in performing other services.

Other important activities of the Red Cross, cited by Mr. Jacobs, include home nursing, nutrition, life saving and first aid, production, refugee work, home service and war prisoners aid. He emphasized the fact that the ending of the war does not mean the Red Cross program will be reduced. Its responsibilities are as great as ever, and he mentioned that the chapter office had recently received notice that 3,000 staff workers are needed for morale-building work among the troops overseas.

Lauds Community Chest

Harry D. Brackett, chairman of the United War Fund, also pointed out there is still need for full support of the USO and other organizations participating in the fund-raising drive to open next October. This year's quota will be about the same as the last campaign's. The speaker explained that the Boy and Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Salvation Army and Cod Liver Oil Fund will receive their funds from the United War Fund. He expressed the hope that out of the United War Fund set-up would come a postwar Community Chest plan, which has been long sought in this community.

Boosts War Bonds

Gust Asp, retailers division chairman of the War Savings committee, appealed for support of the Eighth War Loan drive, which will be launched in October. He praised War Bonds as an investment that returns $100 for every $75 invested. Mr. Asp explained how the retailers organized their girl clerks in the Majorities group, which is credited with selling more than a half of the "E" bonds sold in the community. During the year ending April 30, 1945, the Majorities sold $955,429.72 in "E" bonds, he stated.

Oscar Peterson, president of the Emporia, Kans., Kiwanis club, was a guest of the Escanaba club yesterday. A native of Manitowish, Mr. Peterson is head of the department of mathematics at Emporia Teachers college.

John J. Bartella, picnic chairman, announced plans for the annual Kiwanis picnic to be held at the Cornell town hall next Monday evening.

CANCEL HOSPITAL AID

Iron Mountain—Although the Federal Works Agency, in a telegram today to Frank J. Russell, president of the General Hospital board, cancelled the $117,120 allotment approved last July 21 to match a like amount on hand here for the construction of an annex to the Iron Mountain hospital, plans already considered for the new work will be pushed, the board president announced. There may, however, be some delay in the actual start of construction.

NEW DAIRY SPECIALIST—

Asa newly appointed dairy extension specialist at Michigan State College, George Parsons is working extensively in Michigan with groups interested in dairy cattle breeding programs.

Before coming to Michigan State College, Mr. Parsons served as vocational instructor at Berrien Springs, Woodland and, for the past eight years, at Tacumseh.

Mr. Parsons is a graduate of Michigan State college and has his master of science degree from the University of Wisconsin.

District Scouters To Meet In Nahma

Two district meetings of the Scouters of the Red Buck district have been scheduled to meet, in preparation of the Scouting program for the coming months. The first meeting is to be held at Nahma this evening at the high school beginning at near 7:30 p. m. as possible.

Those expected in attendance at the Nahma meeting will be Earl Jewett, Harold Mayer, William Baggett, John Grimsley, R. G. Hentschell, A. R. Tucker, Lowell Hebbard, Charles Manson, Hugh Kennedy, Ed LaFave, Roy Anderson, J. G. Morris, William Cook, William Shinar, O. J. Schuster, J. G. Morris, Elgie Dow, Edward Deloria, Joseph Griffin, Hans Lund, James Roddy, Al Hescott, Leo Pintal, Lew Bramer, Dr. Bernier and David Phalen, as well as others interested in Scouting.

The second meeting will be held in Hermansville on Friday evening August 24th, with the group meeting at Powers at 7:00 p. m. Those expected to attend this meeting are: James Gribble, Roy Baggett, Ed Berg, Rev. Siefert, Roland Larson, Alfred LeBouef, Leo Doran, Conrad Swanson, Rev. Charles Swanson, Earl Koenig, W. J. Eisenzoph, George Farley, and Clem Sullivan. Also, John Barr, Roy Bergman, Carl Bolm, Ben Douglas, Henry Boyle, Alfred Anderson, Rev. Pokrant, Oscar Larson, Bert Paquette and Frank Romain.

A third meeting which is in the making for the communities of Escanaba, Gladstone, and Rapid River, will be held for the same purpose in the very near future.

Mrs. Carroll Rankin Dies In Marquette

Marquette — Mrs. Carroll Rankin, 81, a pioneer resident of Marquette, died at her home, 219 East Ridge street, Saturday morning after an illness of several months. She was born here May 11, 1864, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Watson, who came to Marquette from Cleveland to open a trading post in 1853.

She attended the public school and Miss Pickard's private school here, then went to Kemper Hall and later to the Chicago Female Seminary in Morgan Park, Ills. Returning to Marquette, she became society editor of The Mining Journal when she was 16.

In 1886 she was married to Ernest Rankin, who died in 1938. With the exception of eight years spent in New York state, the family resided here continuously.

ARMY TRAINING PLAN REVIEWED

Military Education Success Studied Here By Educators

Reports on the highly successful army training program and how certain phases of the program may be adopted by the public schools were discussed at a meeting of Upper Peninsula educators yesterday at the office of Supt. John A. Lemmer of the Escanaba public schools.

Dr. Raleigh Schorling of the University of Michigan and C. E. McDonald, Menominee superintendent of schools, who made a survey of army, navy and other training schools on the eastern seaboard, outlined the military training procedures. They disclosed the lavish use of visual training aids to assist GIs to learn highly technical skills in the shortest possible time.

Dr. Schorling declared that the army training program concentrated upon soldiers who had been screened for maximum aptitude, that the ratio of instructors to students in the military program far exceeded the normal ratio in public schools and that training tools were made available to the GIs without regard to cost.

Expense No Factor

"The army training program had only two objectives," Dr. Schorling revealed. "One was to train men for skills needed in the armed services and the other was to reach this objective in the shortest possible time. The matter of expense was not a consideration."

Major General I. H. Edwards, assistant chief of staff who was in charge of the army training program, revealed that the success of the military program was made possible because of the assistance provided by educators from the public schools. Dr. Schorling said.

Supt. McDonald of Menominee led the discussion concerning possible adaptations of the army training system into the public school program. The educators agreed that the problems involved in the two programs are not analogous, mainly because of different objectives and because of financial considerations.

An increase in the use of visual aids, however, was seen by the educators as a logical result of the lessons learned from the army training program.

Greater concentration in public schools on citizenship training and character building, utilizing the army training techniques, was discussed by the educators.

Representatives from schools in Delta, Menominee and Dickinson counties attended the meeting. A noon luncheon sponsored by the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce was held at the Delta hotel.

Pfc. Edward Flynn Back From Overseas

Pfc. Edward J. (Bud) Flynn of the U. S. Army Ski Troops, 85th Mountain Division, arrived home to spend a 30-day furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Flynn of Harris, after 8 months of service in Italy.

Apparently in the best of health Edward is enjoying his stay with relatives and friends, but like so many who have seen much is reticent about his experiences.

Edward was wounded while in Italy and was awarded the Purple Heart. Later he received the Infantryman's Combat Badge.

Nels Gilbert Will Admitted To Probate

Menominee—The will of Nels Gilbert, 82, who was found dead last May in his Holmes avenue apartment, and who left a cash bank account estate of more than $42,000, has been admitted to probate before Judge Katherine Stiles Laughton and hearing of claims set for November 6. Mrs. Chester LeBeau, 220 Broadway, was named executor.

Objections to the terms of the will filled several weeks ago by Bernard Larsen, Ironwood attorney, in behalf of John Johnson, a son of Gilbert's half-brother, were drawn in time to eliminate necessity of two witnesses to the will being brought here from Washington, D. C., to testify. They are Mrs. Hilma Nordin, former Marinette attorney and Miss Norma Hokenson, both of whom now reside in the national capital. Johnson, along with four other nieces and nephews, was left $300.

A substantial tax for the state of Michigan is promised when the probating is completed, Judge Laughton said. With the exception of the Swedish Lutheran church of Menominee, all beneficiaries will be subject to a tax of 10 per cent on their bequests. Bulk of the estate goes to Sweden, where it is left to church organizations, and to four daughters of a deceased sister, all in Sweden. Swedish Consul Carl Berglund, of Detroit, is handling negotiation in behalf of the Swedish heirs.

Gilbert left $42,000 in bank accounts in Menominee, Marinette and Escanaba.

He was buried in a $1,300 casket which he had selected himself and inspected occasionally. He also left $200 to provide flowers for his grave and his brother's to be spent at the rate of $10 per year.

Gilbert willed his clothes to the poor, but when the trunks were opened the clothes proved to be moth-eaten and had to be burned.

Frank E. Vincent, Marquette, Killed

Marquette—Frank E. Vincent, 69, who resided at 1070 Lake street, was fatally injured about 9:25 Saturday night when he was struck by an automobile driven by Clarence Santamore, Route 1, Patch Location, Negaunee, on U. S. 41 near the Hampton street intersection.

Vincent died shortly after being admitted to St. Mary's hospital. His skull was fractured and both legs were broken.

Mr. Vincent, a resident of Marquette the last 10 years, was born in Chandler on Sept. 15, 1876, and had been employed in Marquette as a fisherman for John LeBlanc. He leaves five sons, Louis and George, Marquette; Albert of Nautinway, Francis, Detroit and Elmer, Muskegon. He also leaves four sisters, Mrs. Sophia Pond and Mrs. Lawrence Christenson, Marquette; Mrs. Emmanuel Frazier, Richmond, Calif., and Mrs. Margaret Moore, Paradise, Mich., and three brothers, John Vincent, Nautinway; Henry, Richmond, Calif., and Walter, Grand Rapids. There is one grandchild.

Late-Summer Trips Lure Tourists To Northland

Escanaba tourist accommodations were at a premium and service stations did a thriving business as visitors from the Middle West drove northward for late summer vacations on the first weekend after the ending of the war and gasoline rationing.

Most of the overnight cabins in the vicinity of Escanaba did the best business since 1941. Motorists from as far away as Pennsylvania and Missouri drove up to local service stations and said "fill 'er up" in voices again learning to speak a once-familiar phrase. Local hotels and rooming houses that had catered to tourists before the war were again receiving visitors bent on pleasure trips to the Upper Peninsula.

Tourists were anxious to make the most of the brief days of summer that remain before the reopening of schools in September. Some of the tourists were men and women who had already felt the effects of reconversion, and were taking long-delayed vacations from war jobs. Some of them were certain they would not have a job when they returned to the cities.

"Plenty of gasoline for everybody—but the tires on most cars won't stand up for many more miles," one service station attendant observed. He described one party of tourists from Pennsylvania that had come limping into Escanaba on tires that did not appear strong enough to take them more than a few hundred miles at best. One of the tires had a six-inch rip in it. Boots, liners and other make-shifts to keep cars rolling on their old casings are in big demand. Tire repairing is on the demand list for tourist cars.

J. Lee Barrett, Detroit, secretary of the Michigan Convention and Tourist Bureau, has estimated that the state's resort industry will profit by some $50,000,000 as the result of Japan's surrender. The lifting of gasoline rationing is expected to extend the tourist season by some six weeks, he said.

One result of the late-summer tourist rush will be to make thousands of tourists acquainted with Michigan's bright fall weather. The number of deer hunters in Michigan this coming November is expected to be larger than at any time since the war started, for the hunting parties will be augmented with returning servicemen.

These are the facts as we see them:

1. YOUR NEW CAR MAY BE MONTHS AWAY

Some new cars may be made this year. But the number will be limited and it will be months before everybody who wants a new car will be able to get one.

That means it is in your interest to keep your present car in shape for what may be thousands of miles of additional driving. And your dealer wants to help in every way he can.

2. TAKE YOUR CAR TO THE MAN WHO KNOWS IT BEST

He's the Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer. He knows the car from bumper to bumper and he has many reasons for serving you well.

He has the experience, equipment, mechanics and factory-engineered parts — everything needed to give you a dependable job.

So telephone or see your Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer and set a date for whatever service is needed on your car. You will find that it is an idea that pays dividends. A little spent for care now can save a lot of time, trouble and expense later.

In Hollywood

Editors: Hollywood notables have volunteered to serve as guest columnists while Erskine Johnson is on vacation. The column below was written by actress Linda Darnell.

Hollywood.—My husband was quietly reading while I was sculpting a head of him the other night, when the telephone rang. When I answered I heard a gasp, some embarrassed stammering, and finally a friend's voice said: "You're still there? It isn't true, is it Linda? You haven't left Pev for Alan Dale?"

Miss Darnell

The rest of the evening was spent answering similar queries. It seems a radio commentator had just announced that he had "the inside on the break-up of Linda Darnell and her husband, Peverell Marley"; that the "other man in the case was Alan Dale, owner of the Villa Nova and one of the film couple's best friends, and that the star and the restaurateur would be married as soon as Miss Darnell could get a divorce."

The one grain of truth in the whole statement was that Alan Dale is a good friend of ours. Pev and I couldn't figure out how such a rumor got started until my best friend, Ann Miller, called. Annie remembered that the day after I finished work in Twentieth Century Fox's "Fallen Angel," I said I was dying to go to the races. Pev was still busy on "The Two Mrs. Carrolls" and I didn't want to go alone, so a couple of days later when Ann had a date to go to Santa Anita with Al Hurd, she took me along. I was just a third party. Alan stopped by to speak to us, and Ann and Al went off for five minutes to get some sandwiches.

Can't Believe Anything I've denied separation and divorce rumors on the average of once a month since Pev and I were married April 18, 1943.

And, though I've been married only 27 months, if I credited gossip, I'd have had 17 children by now! The first baby rumor started when I shopped for a layette for my sister. My saleslady told somebody who told somebody who told their favorite columnist, and the next thing I knew I was publicly, if not privately, expecting the stork!

I've been killed off via gossip half a dozen times, and maimed so frequently I'm amazed I have a finger or toe left. The other day, for instance, a famous columnist accurately reported that my hand was cut by flying glass during a ship christening in San Francisco. But the day after her item appeared, my mother called up in a great dither. She'd had a wire from a friend urging that I try another doctor before permitting an amputation!

Plenty Of Romances Before I married Pev, I suffered from the same rumoritis every single actor or actress in Hollywood goes through. I couldn't go out with a man without prompt announcement we were "the most torrid two-some in town."

Maybe we Hollywood folk ought to be inured to all this. But we're human. We're just as distressed by gossip that maligns us as Susie Smith and Johnny Jones, which, discounting the studio glamour

Towel Pad Aids Perfect Press

It's the little expert tricks of pressing clothes that often swing the scale of balance between looking passably nice and band-box perfect.

Take sleeves, for instance, particularly the bolstered, jutting and shoulder-puffed fashions that are on their way in. To smoothly guide an iron over them, use a sleeve board. To make one roll a heavy magazine up in a towel and insert it in the sleeve that you press.

Woolen duds pressed come off the board lint-free, if you'll use a woolen pressing cloth. Unless you press dark "silks" on the wrong side, there is more apt to be a mirror-shine to taunt you for your amateur status as a presser.

Lapels or pockets come off the board looking more professionally pressed if you'll pave the way for your iron by inserting heavy paper for padding.

Learn To Place People At Ease

Putting shy people at their ease is the social obligation of a hostess, or of the chairman who presides over a small chatty group. Possessing and freely using this social technique gives many a woman her rating as a successful hostess and wins many a club-woman the votes that make her the chairman.

Because no one is more successful at this technique than a woman radio commentator, whose job is to "draw out" program guests, I asked Nancy Craig—one of the smoothest at this sort of thing—to tell her secrets.

"I ask short, encouraging questions," says Nancy who insists that if you'll tactfully query people about what work they do, what their home interests are and what hobby they pursue, not even the shyest soul will falter for an answer.

Rallying to her subject and encouraged by your interest, a timid person is easily coaxed into objective conversation. At that point, says Nancy, someone else will join the talk and you are free to move on where you can put someone else at ease.

Weaving or knitting was practised by spiders, caterpillars and birds long before the advent of the human race.

Ability to get ample quantities of gasoline, coupled with the fact that so many people recently engaged in war work are marking time before seeking other employment has caused a trek into the upper Michigan areas of thousands of people.

Local resort owners declared that they have been literally swamped with requests for reservations, many owners reporting they have had to send vacationers on their way without suggestion as to where they might find accommodations. Many people from the Detroit area have reported at the local information bureau that they have been unable to find accommodations and had to spend the night in their

"This situation is hardly new to long," says Fred Heltman, Inland Lake resort owner and president of the Schoolcraft-Manistique Chamber of Commerce. "We will be able to find ways and means of taking care of the vacationing public. It's the sudden influx of tourists that swamped us."

In view of the situation, Mr. Heltman is appealing to owners of vacant cottages not now in use to rent them. "We don't like to send these tourists on to some other area to spread the word that we cannot accommodate them," he says. "For that reason, if anyone is willing to rent their cottages, they will be doing a distinct service to this community."

Any cottage owner willing to rent their cottages in this manner could register at the Manistique Tourist Information Bureau on Cedar street, stating the location of their cottage, what facilities the cottage has and what rent is expected," Mr. Heltman says.

The former held his opponents down to 3 hits and the Germfask twirler allowed but 5 hits.

Because there happened to be a practical minded registered nurse at the camp, a guest at a resort about thirty miles north of the city was saved a trip to the doctor as well as much misery while enroute to town.

Somebody, it seems, was careless with the fishing line and a fishhook got caught in the scalp of the other occupant of the boat that could not be removed. It was then, when they got back to shore, that the registered nurse's good offices came into play. With a well sharpened potato knife she cut a gash in the scalp enabling her to remove the barbed hook and with some toilet article—presumably a skin freshener—she disinfected it.

This was related to the Press by the parties concerned, who refused to give their names.

Pitcher In Germany

Pvt. Morton H. Young, whose home is at Cooks, is one of the top-notch horseshoe pitchers in the American Army of Occupation in Germany. A hitch in arrangements prevented him and two other leading pitchers of the Seventh army from trying conclusions at Mannheim, leaving the ultimate supremacy in doubt.

Pvt. Young was edged out of his regimental title by Pfc. Clayton Smith of another company, leaving Young in second place. In the semi-finals he qualified for the right to try for the Seventh army title, but the finals, for some reason not stated, had to be called off.

Coach Reque Issues
First Call For Football Practice

Coach Thor Reque has issued the first call for football practice. He is asking all of last year's veterans to report for preliminary instructions at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, and is requesting all members of the team, including prospective members to meet with him on Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock. From then on, daily, the squad members are to report for practice at that hour.

Concerning this year's prospects, Coach Reque is reticent. The team lost some of its star players since last season. Some of these were lost through graduation and others through entrance into the armed service, he says. He adds, however, that some of those in the armed service may return before the season closes and it is hardly likely that any player will be drafted just about the time he gets well broken in.

MAY ORGANIZE
VFW UNIT HEREVeterans To Meet This Evening At 8 At City Hall

A group of local overseas veterans will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the city hall to form a new post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. This was announced by George H. Gee, deputy chief of staff at large for the V. F. W., following conferences with local veterans and civic leaders.

The V. F. W., founded in 1899, is composed of the overseas veterans of all wars, campaigns and expeditions under the American flag. Its present membership of well over a million already includes more than 600,000 veterans of the present war, with additional applications being received at the rate of more than 1,000 a day. More than 40 new posts have been formed in Michigan alone within the past year.

The idea of a new V. F. W. unit in Gladstone was inspired by several men from this area still in service who have already affiliated with the organization.

The establishment of the new post will make available to the veterans of this community the services of both state and national rehabilitation agencies of the V. F. W.—agencies which have been developed on the background of 46 years experience in veterans' welfare and service work.

All overseas veterans are invited to attend the organization meeting, to assist in founding the new post, and to become charter members. If the required minimum number of applications are received for membership, the local group may immediately convene for the election of officers, selection of a name for the post, and the setting of a date for the formal mustering-in ceremony.

Newhouser Wins 20th Victory As Tigers Sweep Doubleheader

A'S DROP PAIR IN BRIGGS PARK

Newsmen May Pitch Both Games Today For Philadelphia

BY FRANK KENESSON
Detroit, Aug. 20 (AP)—Hal Newhouser, slender Detroit southpaw pitcher, today became the major league's first 20-game winner of 1945 by whitewashing the Philadelphia Athletics 4 to 0 as the Tigers followed through with a 4 to 1 triumph in the nightcap to sweep a doubleheader.

Home runs by Roger Cramer and Roy Cullenbine, the latter with two men on in the eighth inning, drove in all the Tiger runs as Newhouser scattered seven singles in the first game to record his fifth shutout of the year.

The Tiger left-hander, who won 29 games and lost nine last season, boosted his 1945 record to 20-7 and fanned seven men for his 16th strikeout of the season.

Greenberg Hittes
Charles Bowles, a first starter, gave the Tigers only five hits in the opener and Jesse Flores scattered six Detroit blows in the second game but extra base hits accounted for both Tiger victories.

Triples by Eddie Mayo and Rudy York and a double by Joe Hoover produced three runs off Flores in the first four innings of the nightcap, enabling Les Mueller to coast in a four-hit pitching job.

Hank Greenberg, hitless in both games, saw his consecutive game hitting streak collapse at 15. A crowd of 14,870 fans, turning out for Detroit's second straight twin bill with the Macks, boosted Briggs stadium attendance this year to 999,189. The series' third straight doubleheader tomorrow will put Detroit's home attendance past the million mark.

Louis (Bobo) Newsom, blustering Philadelphia right-hander who once wore a Detroit uniform, announced that he would be ready to start both games against the Tigers tomorrow, opposing Al Benton in the opener and Stubby Overmire in the second game.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Note to Tom Q. of Gladstone: You were caught napping off first base in your exhortation of the article in this column last week regarding Dave Ferriss, which you attributed to me. The piece was an NEA story and was not published under my by-line. I was on vacation last week. However, come again, even if only to remind me of "any future stupidity." Incidentally, the fishing was terrible last week.

Glenn B. Lewis, former Daily Press carrier, now with the U. S. Rubber company, Wichita, Kan., reports that he is the official Wichita J-C host to the Lincoln AAF Wings at the National Semi-Pro baseball tournament and sat in the dugout with the Nebraska champs during the tournament. The event was strictly a service team show, with the players arriving at Wichita in Army trucks and airplanes to avoid any interference with the public transportation system. The Lincoln AAF Wings are quite some team, Lewis reports.

The lifting of transportation restrictions and the end of gasoline rationing cheered high school athletic officials the past week. Teams now will be able to use school buses to travel to football games or can use private automobiles without being forced to beg for handouts. The easing of transportation restrictions not only will make it easier for teams to meet their schedules, but also will be reflected in increased gate receipts. The beginning of the sports boom will certainly be felt this fall.

Jim Wilson, the rookie Red Sox pitcher who was hit in the head by a line drive from the bat of Hank Greenberg, will probably be out of action for the remainder of the current season, according to present indications. Wilson had to submit to an emergency operation as a result of the blow. Greenberg's line drive was so hard that it lifted Wilson right off the ground, spun him around and then dropped him flat on his face. Although it is unlikely that he will be able to return to the mound this season, he probably will resume his baseball career next year.

The details of the so-called waiver deals in the major leagues in recent weeks, the Cubs' acquisition of Hank Borowy and the Tigers' purchase of Jim Tobin, have come to light. Instead of the $75,000 waiver price, the Cubs actually paid $70,000 for Borowy, $40,000 of which was in cash at the time of sale. The remaining $30,000 will be paid in cash if the Cubs cannot give the Yankees three men acceptable to the New York management. The deadline is Nov. 15. The Tigers got Tobin for only $15,000 according to reports, mainly because the Braves' bosses didn't like Tobin's rules of deportment.

Iron Mountain's new War Memorial Playground, for which a public subscription of $5,000 is now being taken, will include a lighted softball field, at least one lighted softball field, horseshoe courts, shuffleboard courts, soccer alleys, swings, teeter-totters, slides and other playground equipment. The entire playground will be fenced for maximum safety, with an attractive main entrance and artistic landscaping. Plans also include the establishment of smaller playgrounds to be located in various sections of the community.

'48 Olympics May Be Held In London
London, Aug. 20 (AP)—Overriding criticism and protests, the International Olympic committee has begun to make plans for holding the next Olympic games, probably in London, in 1948. The site may be chosen this week at a meeting of the committee's executive board.

Sigfrid Edstrom of Stockholm, acting president of the I. O. C., today labeled the opposition that has been raised both here and in the United States over the proposed resumption of the games as "mostly nonsense."

The critics have based their objections mainly on the "disturbances and rows" kicked up at various meetings in Stockholm, Paris, Los Angeles and Berlin, he said.

Edstrom declined to predict where the 1948 games are likely to be held, but London is bidding strongly for them. New York and Oslo also have been mentioned as possible host cities.

GIANTS WIN, 9-3
New York, Aug. 20 (AP)—The New York Giants hammered Hank Wyse for fourteen hits, including three home runs, to crush the Chicago Cubs, 9-3, tonight as Van Lingle Mungo notched his fourteenth victory. The defeat cut the Cubs' league lead to six and a half games over the St. Louis Cardinals.

A single, Mel Ott's double and Ernie Lombardi's seventeenth homer fashioned three for New York in the third. After adding one more in the sixth, the Ott men erupted for five in the seventh on Johnny Rucker's two-run circuit drive, his seventh, and a four-master by Mike Schmeer with two on, his first in the big show.

The pace-setters only genuine score came in the fourth on Don Johnson's double and Harry Lowrey's one-bagger.

John Jacobs Wins Bissell Trophy

John Jacobs, owner of the Ah-Mie, added another seagull victory to his string when he won the Bissell Trophy race Sunday afternoon. Cliff Weir and Dan Raess brought their Yehudi in second, Harold Olson placed third with the Carefree, Paul Menard's Suds was fourth, and Earl Owens sailed his Lorie in last place.

Official time for the 10.5 mile race from the city dock on the north shore but due to a misunderstanding, only three boats in the fleet started, all but Jacobs turning back. Later Jacobs returned to the dock and the five boats started with a second gun.

The racing course was triangularly charted and the boats sailed three times around in a south wind.

Although scheduled, the Autumn regatta race was not sailed.

STOCKS STRUCK BY BEARISHNESS

BY VICTOR EUBANK

New York, Aug. 20 (AP)—Stocks, bonds and commodities were thrown for further substantial losses in the market as bearishness over vanishing wartime profits inspired liquidation. The morning advance was pre-empted partly on belief many industries would have hard sledding for a number of months before transition difficulties were ironed out and civilian production revived large-scale consumer spending.

Heavy unemployment envisaged in the interim, although expected to shift for the better next year, served to discourage bidders.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off 8 of a point at 632, a low mark since mid-April. The market was relatively calm, 439 issues appearing. Of these, 660 were down, 134 up and 148 unchanged. Transfers totaled 1,320,000 shares compared with 1,210,000 last Friday.

Among pivots able to finish on the upside were American Telephone, Santa Fe, Radio Corp., Chrysler, American Smelting and Boeing.

Prominent casualties included Great Northern, Baltimore & Ohio, Atlantic Coast Line, Northern Pacific, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, Woodworth, Deere, Douglas Aircraft, American Water Works, Anaconda, American Cyanamid, General Electric, Allied Chemical, Standard Oil, International Telephone and John-Manville.

RAILS GET BEATING
New York, Aug. 20 (AP)—Medium priced rail issues took a severe pounding in today's bond market as traders and investors peered further into the future and apparently didn't like what they saw.

Declines in a long list of active carriers ranged from 1 to 3 points and there were wider losers in a few cases. A majority of active railroads and utilities acted better, although all groups had large quotas of declines.

Trading was active with sales at $10,000,000, largely in 100's, and compared with $6,400,000 last Friday. The tremendous rise in railroad bonds in the war years and the desire of owners to salvage as much of this gain as possible before peacetime operations brought reduced revenues and earnings apparently inspired large-scale selling.

Heaviest losers included bonds of the St. Louis-San Francisco, Seaboard, Cotton Belt, Northern Pacific, New Haven, New York Central, Morris & Essex, and Baltimore & Ohio. Central, Lehigh Valley, International Great Northern, Hudson & Manhattan, Rock Island, St. Paul, Chicago & Atlantic, Central of New Jersey and Baltimore & Ohio.

Among resistant spots were Florida East Coast, Seaboard, Seaboard, 4 1/2's, American Telephone 3's and International Telephone 4 1/2's. U. S. governments backed away moderately as Treasury officials worried about the forthcoming Victory Loan drive.

Foreign dollar bonds were relatively narrow.

ALEX DERUSHA DIES YESTERDAY

Escanaba Resident Is Stricken After One Year's Illness

Alex Joseph Derusha, 50, of 201 North Eleventh street, died at 1:50 p. m. yesterday in St. Francis hospital of a heart ailment with which he had suffered for the past year. He had been seriously ill for the past three months.

Born at Ford River Switch on February 22, 1895, Mr. Derusha spent his childhood at Ford River and the remainder of his life in Escanaba. On September 20, 1913, he and Amanda DeMarse were married in St. Ann church in Escanaba. For a number of years he was employed by the city of Escanaba.

A devout and active member of St. Ann church, Mr. Derusha was also a member of the Holy Name Society.

Surviving are his widow and the following sons and daughters: Mrs. Alvin (Laura) Colson, Mrs. Julius (Edith) Sorby, Pfc. Walter Derusha, now in Germany, S 2/c Wilfred Derusha in the Pacific, Lorraine and Rosalie at home; the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Alex Derouin, Ford River; Alfred Derusha of Escanaba; Mrs. Henry LaPalm, Soo Hill; Ernest Derusha, Ford River; Mrs. Joseph Berube, Wells; Mrs. Louis Wallin, Escanaba; Sidney Derusha, Ford River; and Jerry Derusha, of Danforth. Four grandchildren also survive.

The body was taken to the Alfo funeral home. Arrangements for the funeral had not been completed last night, pending word from the two sons in service.

Major Leonard Ward Expected Home Soon

Major Leonard Ward, son of Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Ward of 513 Third avenue south, is expected to arrive in Escanaba Saturday or Sunday on his first visit home in more than three years, according to a cablegram received by his parents Sunday.

The cablegram was dispatched from Brazil. Previously Rev. and Mrs. Ward had a letter from their son advising them that he expected to fly from Europe to South America and thence to Florida and possibly New York. He will report to Fort Sheridan, Ill., and then is expected to come to Escanaba.

Major Ward is serving with the U. S. Army Engineers and has been overseas for the past three and one-half years.

Harland Goodnough Wounded On Luzon

Mr. and Mrs. George Goodnough, 12 Highland avenue, Wells, have received word from the war department that their son, Pfc. Harland Goodnough, of the Sixth Division, 20th Infantry, was slightly wounded Aug. 2 on Luzon, the Philippines.

He has been in service for five years and has served overseas for a year and a half. A brother, Pfc. Lawrence Goodnough, is expected home shortly from Germany.

Larger and with a longer range than the American built Martin "Mars"—largest U. S. flying boat—the Shelland Flying Boat is to take to the air. The plane is large enough to accommodate 70 passengers and a crew of 11.

News From Men In The Service

George

Thomas

George and Thomas Goedert, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Goedert, Sr., 414 South Sixth street, met on Saipan recently for the first time in 22 months. George went overseas in May, 1944, and Thomas went overseas in July, 1945. He also landed at Saipan, and immediately began to look for his brother. The two members of the Second Marine Division spent all their time-off together.

Pfc. Kenneth W. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Phillips of Arnold, has arrived for a 30-day furlough after being overseas eight months, serving with the Tenth Mountain Division in Italy. He participated in two major campaigns in the northern Alpine mountains and in the Po river valley. He was awarded the Infantry badge, Good Conduct ribbon, ETO ribbon and two Battle Stars. After his furlough, he will go to Carson, Calif.

Miami, Fla. — Speeded toward home from overseas as part of the "Green Project" which calls for the Air Transport Command's Caribbean Division to fly 30,000 returnees from Europe to Miami Army Air Field each month, another Escanaba man is back in the States.

In less than 24 hours he left for Camp Blanding, Fla., by rail. From there he will go to a reception center nearer home for separation from the service or furlough prior to reassignment.

The Escanaba man is T/5 Anthony J. Milkovich, 25, of 1415 Eighth avenue south, who served in the Italian campaign.

Pfc. Lawrence Goodnough, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Goodnough of Wells, has written his parents, advising them he expects to leave Germany soon for the States. He entered the army May 5, 1941, and has been overseas three years.

Pfc. Roland Mercier has arrived at his home in Garden for a thirty day deployment furlough after serving overseas for twenty-two months. He expects to report to Camp Shelby for more training before going to the Pacific.

He wears a silver star for having participated in five major battles in Europe with the 28th Division which has a high combat record, having fought gallantly in Herten Forest, The Ardennes, Colmar and the Battle of the Chene, the most decisive battle of the war. This division is credited with taking more hard knocks and bouncing back oftener than any other in the U. S. Army.

Pvt. Mercier reveals that of all the battles he fought in that of the Ardennes in December was the toughest and he hopes that he will never experience another like it.

SPEED LIMIT IS STILL ON HERE

Lifting Of 35-Mile Ban Does Not Change Law In Escanaba

The lifting of the wartime 35-mile-an-hour speed limit on highways of the nation does not end the necessity for observing traffic speed laws in Escanaba and other cities, the Escanaba police department pointed out yesterday.

The speed limit in Escanaba, except on certain designated arterial streets, is 25 miles an hour, both in the residential and business sections of the city. The 25-mile limit is in conformity with state law, which sets that speed as a maximum.

Cities may raise the limit, as Escanaba has done for certain arterial streets, where the speed limit is 30 miles an hour. The arterials are as follows:

First avenue north, First avenue south, Lake Shore Drive, Fifth avenue south, Tenth avenue south, Fourteenth and Tenth streets, Sheridan Road, Stephenson avenue and Washington avenue.

It was announced yesterday from Lansing that the 35-mile limit would be removed on county roads of the state, effective August 27.

Director J. Monroe Johnson of the Office of Defense Transportation, in announcing the end of the 35-mile limit, urged motorists to "think twice before attempting to increase regular driving speeds in old cars no longer capable of high speed operation." He advised motorists to have their cars checked thoroughly.

ESCANABA ODT OFFICE DOOMED

Federal Branch Will Be Closed Within Next 30 Days

The Escanaba branch of the Office of Defense Transportation will be closed within 30 days, according to announcement made in Washington by the national office of the ODT, but local authorities have received no official information of the closing order.

It is expected that the close will be effected about mid-September. At present the local office employs nine persons. The maximum personnel here was 14 but a slash of five persons from the payroll was effected several weeks ago.

Other offices in Region Six slated for early closing are the offices at Green Bay and LaCrosse, Wis.

TOMORROW'S HEARING AID FLOATS NOISELESSLY ON RUBBER

In a new postwar development being demonstrated for the hard of hearing and available specially today, Maico engineers, twice awarded the Army-Navy "E" for supplying hearing test instruments to the armed services, have employed new molded rubber "noise eliminators." The effect of these tiny shock absorbers is to give a new quietness and freedom from extraneous noise to the hearing aid user. The new tiny MAICO, an electronic engineering jewel, is midjet in size.

MRS. PEARL WHITE, Representative, will be at the Upper Peninsula Headquarters, 425 So. 9th St. ESCANABA, MICH.

IS GOOD BUSINESS PRACTICE FOR INDIVIDUALS TO FOLLOW

If you are in need of money for personal reasons, come to the Escanaba National Bank for we've been helping folks here for over a half century. You will be interested to learn how and when your loan can be repaid and the amount you will pay for "hiring the money", as Calvin Coolidge once said.

Borrowing money at the Escanaba National Bank is a relatively easy process when the lender has evidence that the loan will be repaid, but there is also a definite advantage for the borrower in establishing relations with the Escanaba National Bank. A relation which will be pleasant and can prove very valuable at some future time when other transactions would prove a convenience and help.

Registration for Draft Continuing For Youths at 18

The end of the war has not brought a suspension of Selective Service procedures and youths reaching the age of 18 are still required to register at the local draft board, it was emphasized yesterday.

A small group is slated for induction Aug. 28 and a larger group has been ordered to report for preinduction examinations. These groups, however, will include only registrants under the age of 26, except for volunteers in the upper age classifications.

The assigned quota for preinduction will not be filled by the local board this month, due to the lowering of the draft age to below 26, it was indicated.
